People starting cut on mountainclimbing trips to Mauna Loa should be warned of the seriousness of the undertaking, in the opinion of Thornton Hardy, executive secretary of the Mid-Pacific Carnival, who returned this morning from Hawaii.

Fiardy says that a great man, those who start out to the big flow have an idea that it is only a little way off, owing to the fact that the fires are lighting up the sky so brilliantly. They fail to take enough water for a long trip and as a consequence suffer a great deal from it.

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless) LONDON, Eng., May 29 .- The definite rumors of peace and the apparent moves in America to bring about a condition which would lead to negotiations find the British press in something of a receptive mood. The Liverpool Post today says that "irresponsible peace talk received its quietus from Sir Edward Grey last week," referring to his speech in which he said that the Ceneral Powers must be forced to give up the countries they have invaded, but the Post also adds that it does not doubt the President's speech and the sentiments he has expressed to callers will revive discussion in
